

2 March 1949

informed me that there have been no broadcasts of interest since the report which we sent Dondero. He said that FBIB doesn't print any of these broadcasts if they contain nothing of interest. He suggested the possibility that we might have the London office send the tests of all these broadcasts which BBC monitors, however this would entail extra work. He wanted to take it up with Col. White and I asked him to wait until I had spoken to you.

STAT